PRELUDE TO BIG EFFORT

French Offensive in Woevre Is Generally So Regarded.

RUSSIANS ADVANCING EAST.

Czar's Troops Now Hold The Principal Chain of The Carpathians.

London, April 12.—The French offensive in the Woevre, it is generally believed, is the prelude to a big general effort by the allies in the west.

Paris claims continued progress in the Woevre movement, but Berlin claims all French attacks have been repulsed. With the two general staffs in direct conflict, it is difficult to gauge the results, but military experts here express the conviction that the Germans must send reinforcements to strengthen their wedge, which penetrates to St. Mihiel and which is being attacked on both flanks. They assert that as soon as this movement begins the allies will strike at the point thus weakened and perhaps at the whole line.

The Russians in the east, like the French in the west, apparently are making progress in the capture of important points before undertaking a general forward movement. They now hold the whole principal chain of the Carpathians and at some points are descending the southern slopes and are approaching, if they are not already in the Uzok valley, south of the pass of that name.

The allied fleet has, according to unofficial reports, been bombarding the Dardanelles forts from the gulf of Saros. This doubtless is being done to prevent the Turks from repairing the forts, for it is not believed here that the big attacks will be resumed until the land forces arrive.

Unofficial reports also continue to come in regarding the gun firing off the Norwegian coast on Wednesday night last, concerning which the admiralty has made nothing public. The Scandinavian papers are convinced that a sea battle has occurred, although they variously describe it as a battle between British and German cruisers and a chase by British or German submarines.

DEFICIENCY IN RAINFALL

Since the First of the Year Exceeds Four Inches, According to Weather Bureau.

According to the Cincinnati Weather Bureau, the deficiency in precipitation, rain and melted snow since the first of January, 1915, is 4.22 inches up to Monday afternoon of this week. This deficiency has been created since the first of February, the precipitation during January being above normal. As the normal rainfall during February and March is less than three inches, it may readily be seen that a drouth prevailed during those months, which if it had occurred in the growing months would have done immense damage to crops. As it is however, the drouth has been a real advantage, having put the ground in fine condition for plowing and having enabled most farmers to finish this work.—Grant Co. News.

Suicide at Trenton.

Edw R. Thompson, aged about 58, extensive land and stock dealer of Trenton, committed suicide at his farm two miles from town about noon Sunday. When found he was dead, lying beside a barn, with an empty pistol by his side and a hole in his temple, death having been instantaneous. He leaves a wife and two grown children.

ADDITIONS COMPETED

State Hospital New Buildings Erected at Cost of $40,000.

HAVE NOW BEEN OCCUPIED.

Double Dining Room For Patients, and Nurses' Home.

The new dining room and the new nurses' hall at the Western State Hospital are now completed and have been occupied. The dining room is located in the big north court, connecting the two wings. It is one-story, with two rooms seating 500 each, and patients from the entire main building are fed in them, males on one side and females on the other. This will, of course, increase the capacity of the wards from which dining rooms can be removed.

A balcony between the two dining rooms is provided for the orchestra and there will be music during the meals. The building is comfortable in all its appointments and cost $30,000. It was constructed by the Hancock Co., of Louisville.

The nurses hall is a detached building in the grove, some distance from the main building, where accommodations are provided for the nurses. It is an elegant little home, costing $10,000. It was built by the hospital's own carpenters and has already been occupied.

Kentucky Boy Hercules.

Rupert Kirk Graham, a Madisonville boy who enlisted in the navy at Evansville yesterday, is 17 and is a modern Hercules for his age. He is over five feet ten inches tall, weighs 152 pounds and is well developed.

BASEBALL AT HOSPITAL

Winning Team Organized With Dr. Sight As The Manager.

The State Hospital baseball team is preparing for a regular season of playing this spring and summer. Dr. Sight has been giving employment to a number of ball players since last winter who are in position to make the team a very strong one.

There are four or five former professional players and the team as organized has much good material. Supt. Sight is the manager, Dr. Robinson assistant manager, Dr. Davis captain and Miss Ethel Sight official score keeper. Phil May is a qualified umpire.

A splendid diamond has been laid off to the left of the buildings and games have already been scheduled with Dawson, Earlinton, Madisonville, Hopkinsville, Crofton, Pembroke, Guthrie and Princeton. Two games have already been played with High School.

FIVE INDICTMENTS

Against Custodian of Elks' Building at Bowling Green.

Bowling Green, Ky., April 12.—The present grand jury late Thursday afternoon returned five indictments against Thomas Fowler, custodian of the Elks' building, charging him with receiving a package of liquor containing a false label.

Fowler was recently convicted in the county court on a number of charges of having liquor in his possession for sale. There were in all twenty-three cases against him. He appealed to the circuit court. Fowler admits receiving the liquor, but claims he did so as an accommodation to brother Elks.

AT UNION TABERNACLE

"Every Girl," Clay St. School Play Friday, April 16---Curtain 8:15.

SOME FINE HOME TALENT.

The Leading Part Taken By Miss Mary Joe Wallace, of Cerulean.

Just a few words concerning the personnel of the leading characters in this extraordinary production.

The cast is composed strictly of Clay St. School talent, with the exception of four of Miss Parrent's private pupils, two from the High School and two from the Virginia St. School. The character of "Every Girl" will be personated by Miss Mary Joe Wallace, of Cerulean, a High School girl. "Slang," a bright, catchy part, is taken by equally as bright and catchy a little girl, Belle Alexander, of Virginia St. School, who has justly won an enviable reputation as a reader of more than mediocrity. Miss Alice Merritt will personate "Alma Mater," a lofty, dignified character, led by "Love" and "Loyalty," taken by Misses Elizabeth Cooper and Elizabeth Bassett. Messrs. Hal Johnson, Walter Page and Davis Waltrip, three bright Clay St. boys, have prominent parts, as "Question Mark," "Doleful Dumps" and "Exams." Master Selden Trimble, as "School Bell," will be sure to be literally the bell of the occasion.

Apart from the play, there will be beautiful choruses and the Princess Orchestra. The chorus of the "Dunces" is worth more than price of admission. Twenty-five cents for grown people and 15 cents for all under 12 years.

ALAS POOR K. I. T. LEAGUE

The Kitty Has About Yielded Up Another of Its Lives.

A dispatch from Paducah says Herrin and Murphysboro, Ill., will not go into the Kitty League and the organization has about given up another of its nine lives. As a last resort to keep the league alive, President Cox has called a meeting to be held to-day in Henderson. The future of the league depends on Henderson. The association there is reported to be heavily involved with debts from last season, and the officials have declared they would not be interested in league baseball again this season. All arrangements are said to have been completed to play independent baseball there this season, so prospects for the Kitty league are very discouraging.

Building Wrecked.

Kansas City, April 12.—An explosion, believed by the police to have been caused by a bomb, wrecked the seven-story cooling building of the Cudaby Packing Company's plant here last night, causing a loss estimated at $750,000. Two men working in the building at the time were injured.

Sues at Henderson.

Henderson, Ky., April 12.—A suit was filed in circuit court by the Western Kentucky Asylum against J. H. Triplett for $750 alleged to be due for the keep and maintenance of Mrs. Emily Triplett, a patient there.

W. C. T. A.

The W. C. T. U. will meet at the First Baptist church on to-morrow (Wednesday) afternoon, April 14, 1915, at 3 o'clock. A helpful program is being prepared, and a large attendance is desired. Everybody is cordially invited to be present.

ANOTHER SHIP ENTERS PORT

Kron Prinz Wilhelm, With Sixty Prisoners, at Newport News.

HAS BOTTLED HERSELF UP.

Twelve British, Two French and One Norwegian Vessel Sunk by Her.

Newport News, Va., April 12.—The German converted cruiser Kron Prinz Wilhelm, another of those elusive raiders in commerce in the south seas, slipped into this port yesterday and asked for fuel and provisions. Many times reported destroyed by the former North German Lloyd liner evaded hostile warships for eight months while she sent fifteen merchantmen to the bottom, and her officers said she was forced to steal her way past four allied cruisers off the Virginia capes in order to reach this refuge.

"We got in without being seen by the enemy and we can get out the same way," declared her commander, Lieut. Captain Paul Thierfelder.

When she dropped anchor the Kron Prinz Wilhelm had less than twenty-five tons of coal and scanty provisions for the crew of 500 men and sixty-one prisoners from British merchant ships sunk. Of the fifteen ships that the drabpainted, 15,000 ton cruiser sank, twelve were British, two French and one Norwegian. The value of these ships and their cargoes, officers of the Wilhelm estimated at $7,000,000.

Following in the wake of the interned Prinz Eitel Friedrich, which arrived here a month ago after similar thrilling and effective operations for the German arms, the Kron Prinz Wilhelm came dashing through the lane of enemy warships which had hovered off these shores for weeks before the Eitel was interned.

Most of the 960 passengers and sailors taken from British and other allied ships were sent from time to time by German ships to Buenos Aires, Rio De Janeiro, and Santos. Three hundred and sixty from the French steamer Gaudaloupe were sent ashore at Santos. A time will be fixed for her departure.

THERE STOOD CHRISTIAN

In The Thirteen Most Lucky Counties In The State of Kentucky.

Frankfort, Ky., April 12.—Thirteen counties will draw the full amount allowed by law out of the State road fund this year, $13,164, according to estimate just completed by Commissioner of Roads, R. C. Terrell. It is based on the 1914 assessments and levy, excepting a few instances where failure of the counties to report made it necessary to use the 1912 returns.

The counties which will draw the full 2 per cent. are: Bourbon, Campbell, Christian, Clark, Daviess, Fayette, Graves, Jefferson, Kenton, Mason, McCracken, Nelson and Shelby.

A Boy Hero.

An attempt to wreck an east-bound Chesapeake & Ohio passenger train near Eastbank W. Va., was frustrated by a boy, who flagged it in time to prevent it from running into two hand cars and a pile of ties which had been placed on the track at the end of a curve.

MEASURES TO CONTROL GRASSHOPPER PEST

Grasshoppers Feeding on Poison—Note That This Is Not the Way to Spread the Bait.(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)The more alfalfa fields there are, the greater will be the plague of grasshoppers unless measures are adopted to control the pest. The grasshopper, of course, was known in America long before alfalfa, but as the country becomes more settled and the waste lands and uncultivated fields in which the insect breeds grow fewer, the pest crowds in greater and greater numbers into the places that are left fit.
Since an alfalfa field affords almost ideal conditions for breeding, to plant alfalfa is to invite all the grasshoppers
in the vicinity to come and be merry
at your expense.In order to breed freely, grasshoppers require two conditions; first, an undisturbed soil to hatch their eggs, and second, a food supply for their young. The margins of roads and fences, ditch banks, in fact any waste land, will do to hatch the eggs, but with alfalfa or grain at hand for the eating, the young will not stay long in their birthplace. Grasshoppers, it is true, have many natural enemies which will be attracted by the abundance of their prey and thus ultimately afford the farmer some relief. By that time, however, the alfalfa crop is likely to have suffered irreparable damage.Perhaps the simplest way of fighting the pest, when this is practical, is to destroy the eggs. These are deposited in masses in the late summer and fall, inclosed in kidney-shaped pods, in soil which the grasshopper prefers moderately compact and rather damp, but not actually wet. The young hatch in spring, reach maturity in the summer and die when they in their turn have deposited their eggs. There is only one generation each year. Throughout the late fall and winter, therefore, the farmer has an opportunity to rid himself of the pest by destroying the eggs.
Plowing, harrowing, disking or cultivating to a depth of two inches will do this.Where the nature of the ground or other circumstances make this impracticable, specialists in the department of agriculture recommend the use of poison bait. Resort must be had to the bait early, however, and all waste and uncultivated land gone over thoroughly before the young insects have developed sufficiently to move about freely and feast on the growing crops. For, as has already been said, though the grasshoppers

Corn Eaten by Grasshoppers.

may breed in places where they can do so harm, they will not spend their lives there. The bait is made of molasses and wheat bran, and is mixed with a small amount of arsenic. It is mixed with a small amount of water or any other convenient liquid. The molasses or syrup is placed in a separate vesseland the juice of the fruit squeezed into it, then the skin and pulp are chopped up finely and added to the molasses mixture, which is further diluted by the addition of two gallons of water.
This is then mixed with the bran and pans green and enough water added to make the whole a stiff dough. This amount of poison is sufficient to treat from five to ten acres. It must be remembered, however, that the fruit is the most important ingredient.In applying the poison it should be sown broadcast in strips one rod apart before sunrise in the morning. Broadcasting does away with the risk of poisoning stock, poultry or birds and if care is exercised in this respect there need be no fear of loss. On a Vermont farm, for example, several hundred acres of pasture, which were very badly infested with grasshoppers, were treated in this way, and although more than one hundred valuable pure-bred Jersey heifers were grazing on the land throughout the process, no instance of poisoning occurred. On theOn the Trail of Grasshoppers in a Corn Field.other hand, where the bait is scattered in piles or bunches, there may be serious consequences.Another method of destroying the insects is the use of the hopperdozer.
This consists primarily of a shallow pan, usually made of sheet iron, with a hack about one foot high and a front about two inches high. It is filled with water covered with kerosene and drawn over the field on runners that can be made of old wagon tires. The grasshoppers disturbed by its approach will either jump directly into the kerosene and water or against the hack of the hopperdozer, which throws them into the poisonous mixture.Where the conditions are such that the fields can be quickly inundated and the water promptly run off—as is frequently done in rice fields—it is possible to drown all the young grasshoppers if the right moment is selected. As soon as the young begin to run about flooding does but little good, as they easily climb to the upper part of vegetation beyond the reach of the water. On the whole, the use of some such poisoned bait as that already described, will probably be found the most satisfactory way to control the pest.
Fuller information in regard to the matter is contained in the recent publication of the United States department of agriculture's farmers' buletin No. 637, "The Grasshopper Problem and Alfalfa Culture."

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy.
All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic, all Teething Troubles and Diarrhoea. It regulates the Stomach and Bowels, assimilates the Food, giving healthy and natural sleep.

WAR! What Is It
All About?HAS the whole world gone stark mad over a very foolish and trivial question? Are swords rattling, cannon rumbling, mailed armour glistering just because Russia wanted to show her love for the little brother—Serbia?Tear aside the curtain of Europe's politics and see the grim and sinister game of chess that is being played.
See upon what a slim, yet desperate, excuse the sacred lives of millions may be sacrificed. Read the history of the past one hundred years, as written by one of the greatest authorities the world has ever known, and learn

Duruy's History of the World

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagramsToday is the climax of a hundred years of preparation.
Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France alone—just what has taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness—to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom.
Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the story that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades, through the Renaissance up to contemporary history, which Prof.
Grosvenor completes in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a sane interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.Get the

THE THRICE-A-WEEK EDITION OF THE NEW YORK WORLD

Practically a Daily at the Price of a Weekly. No other Newspaper in the world gives so much at so low a price.

The year 1914 has been the most extraordinary in the history of modern times. It has witnessed the outbreak of the great European war, a war so titanic that it makes all other wars look small.

You live in momentous times, and should not miss any of the tremendous events that are occurring. No other newspaper will inform you with the promptness and cheapness of the Thrice-a-Week edition of the New York World. Moreover, a year's subscription to it will take you far into our next Presidential campaign.

THE THRICE-A-WEEK WORLD's regular subscription price is only 1.00 per year, and this pays for 156 papers. We offer this unequalled newspaper and Hopkinsville Kentuckian together for one year for $2.65.

The regular subscription price of the two papers is $3.00. Send all subscriptions to Kentuckian office.

ANIMALS TO TALK TO MAN

Noted German Scientist Satisfied That Condition Will Be Reached in the Future.

"Some day a man will talk to his dog and his dog will talk to him. So will the man talk to birds of the air. It will be then that all animal and bird life becomes articulate and a widening of our cosmic horizon, now undreamed of, will result." This was the statement at Los Angeles recently, of R. L. Garner, noted philologist and tutor of Maeterlinck, who has spent 25 years in the wilds of the Congo studying the chimpanzee and the gorilla. From these two animals, Garner believes will be strung the first twin cables from which scientists will hang a bridge on which man and his lesser brothers of the world will meet in oracular converse.

"A dream, you say?" he continued. "Cannot the bee teach us a higher communism, the quick, effective elimination of the unfit and shirker? Cannot the birds tell us their secret of flying? Would we not like to know why the oriole, the oven bird or castle building ant are so much better engineers than we are? I believe the day will come when they will be able to tell us. In many respects the gorilla or chimpanzee is far more civilized than man. You never did or never will hear of either abandoning their wives."

After spending a vacation in Los Angeles Mr. Garner intends to return to the Congo for further study of the animals found there.

PLAN NEW DUBLIN CATHEDRAL

Roman Catholics Likely to Erect House of Worship Worthy of the Irish Capital.

Roman Catholic Dublin's desire for a great city cathedral is likely to be satisfied at last. The present pro-cathedral in Marlborough street has never been regarded as anything more than a stop-gap. The two fine cathedrals in the city, St. Patrick's and Christ Church, are, of course, the property of the Church of Ireland.

Some time ago the corporation acquired a site at Ormond Market, on the northern quays, for the erection of workmen's dwellings. The scheme was never popular and is open to grave objection.

The Roman Catholic archbishop of Dublin has now offered to purchase the Ormond Market area as a site for a cathedral at the amount which the corporation paid for it.

The suggestion for a Roman Catholic cathedral at this spot came from Prof. Patrick Geddes, who advocated a new artery of traffic which would bring the two Protestant cathedrals into line with a new Roman Catholic building.

Aroused Painful Memories.

All Farmer Hayseed's hands were in the village choir. At Christmas they used to come round to their master's home, and after much singing, or rather howling, receive a gratuity. This Christmas being an extremely dark night, they took a stable lantern with them, and arranged themselves on Hayseed's lawn. They had scarcely got through the first verse of "While shepherds watched" when the old farmer's head appeared at the window, and a voice floated through the air. "Say, you chaps," roared the glum-looking farmer, as he threw a handful of money to the peace disturbers, "I'll give my blessing freely if you'll only sing 'Christians, awake,' or 'Ark the 'erold hangels sing,' but, for 'even's sake, don't 'e sing 'While shepherds watched.' Last Christmas, while you were a murderin' that same tune, some villiuns come 'long an' lifted eight of ma best sheep from under your bloomin' noses."

Importance of Home Life.

The re-establishment of the American home is the only remedy for the social evil and the only hope of democracy, declared a speaker at the international purity congress in Kansas City. "The constant shifting of families from one section to another prohibits the long acquaintance among young people through which proper life partners can be selected," the speaker said. "Young people are thrown into contact with strangers, become bold and practice deceptions. As a result, marriage is arranged on a guess; the deceptions are discovered and lead to the divorce court and all too often to immorality."

Cost of Living in Wartime.

Data published in the Statistische Korrespondenz are figured out to indicate the price of wheat in Berlin, at the end of August, was 9½ per cent above the July 31 price, and that the advance was 16½ per cent at the end of September and 26½ at the end of October. Rye had advanced 11½ per cent in August, 21½ per cent in September and 30½ per cent in October. In England the Economist's "Index number" shows the average price of cereals to have risen from 67.9 at the end of July to 65½ at the end of October, and to 68.3 at the end of November.—New York Post.

Too Many Holidays.

"Pop!"
"Yes, my son."
"What are these dates on the new calendars in red ink?"
"Oh, those are holidays."
"Well, why don't they put all the school holidays in red ink?"
"Wouldn't have enough red ink, I guess, for that, my boy."

LIVE STOCK

MAKING MONEY WITH SHEEP

Cost of Raising Is Small Compared With High Prices They Bring—Increase Fertility of Soil.

The cost of raising sheep is small compared with the high prices they command or with the cost of production of any other farm animal. The Lincoln, Cotswold and Leicester are probably the three largest breeds of sheep—if any favor in size the Lincoln probably has it. A practical breeder says: "If I want a large-growing lamb, to put on the market at six or eight weeks old, I will use a larger breed than the Southdown, which I might use if I was after a mutton chop. For such lambs I am partial to the Oxford, but the Hampshire might give as good satisfaction." Sheep are a good medium for increasing the fertility of the farm of the man of limited means. A dozen ewes, properly cared for, will soon raise lambs enough to stock your farm with sheep. The estimate is that five sheep can be kept on what one cow will consume. With good, bright, wheat straw and half a pound of corn daily, breeding ewes and store sheep will winter nicely. One of the difficulties in raising sheep consists in the great number of worthless dogs. The only remedy for this condition in most cases consists in a high dog tax and enforcement of the laws now on the statute books. Owing to the scarcity of reliable help, the raising of market lambs will prove more remunerative than dairying. The farmer and one hand can easily feed and care for a small flock. Have a dog-proof exercise yard and a roomy pen with a hard earth floor. Commence with a small flock. Gradually increase as the business is found profitable.

PROPER TIME TO WEAN COLT

Youngster Should Be Accustomed to Eat Hay and Grain Before Removal—Put Mare on Dry Feed.

The colt should be allowed to remain with the mare until it has become accustomed to eat grain and hay before it is weaned. In nearly all cases it will be best to feed the mare for at least several weeks before the colt is removed with ground oats and wheat bran.

Give the mare a roomy, well-hedged box stall, so the colt can eat beside her. This is one of the easiest and quickest ways of teaching the colt to eat.

Give the colt good blue grass and white clover pasture, but put the mare on dry feed. This will help to dry up her milk without causing a swollen udder.

While it is not necessary to particularly push the growth of the colt, it is very essential that a steady growth be maintained and generally it will pay to feed a little grain, unless the pasture is unusually good. Ground oats and wheat bran, say one to two pints per day, fed dry will promote growth of bone and muscle and a well-developed healthy animal.

Corn is not a suitable food for a young growing animal.

FEEDING ALFALFA TO SWINE

No Better or More Practicable Method Known Than That of Giving Hay to Animals in Rack.

There does not appear to be any more practicable method of grinding hay for hogs than by feeding the hay via a good rack.

A few years ago some enthusiast wrote a story about alfalfa tea, which he said was the finest thing on earth; that the tea extracted all the animal food in the alfalfa and at the same time left the plant food for the soil. By giving the tea to the hogs they would gain their weight, and then you could scatter the stewed alfalfa back on the land. The story found its way into one of the eastern publications and the western experiment stations have been flooded with inquiries ever since.

HARDSHIPS OF THE DESERT

By Comparison the Average Man Will Think His Lot Cast in Most Pleasant Places.

We are almost across the desert, and I am really becoming interested. The difficulties some folks work under are enough to make many of us ashamed. In the very center of the desert is a little settlement called Eden Valley. Imagination must have had a heap to do with its name, but one thing is certain: the serpent will find the crawling rather had if he attempts to enter this Eden, for the sand is hot; the alkali and the cactus are there, so it must be a serpent-less Eden. The settlers have made a long canal and bring their water many miles. They say the soil is splendid, and they don't have much stone; but it is such a flat place! I wonder how they get the water to run when they irrigate.

We saw many deserted homes. Hope's skeletons they are, with their yawning doors and windows like eyeless sockets. Some of the houses, which looked as if they were deserted, held families. We camped near one such. Mrs. O'Shaughnessy and I went up to the house to buy some eggs. A hopeless-looking woman came to the door. The hot winds and the alkali dust had tanned her skin and bleached her hair; both were a gray-brown. Her eyes were blue, but were so tired-looking that I could hardly see for the tears.

"No," she said, "we ain't got no eggs. We ain't got no chickens. You see this ground is sandy, and last year the wind blowed awful hard and all the grain blowed out, so we didn't have no chance to raise chickens. We had no feed and no money to buy feed, so we had to kill our chickens to save their lives. We et 'em. They would have starved anyway."—The Woman Homesteader, in the Atlantic.

Adversity.

A high character might be produced, I suppose, by continued prosperity, but it has very seldom been the case. Adversity, however it may appear to be our foe, is our true friend; and, after a little acquaintance with it, we receive it as a precious thing—the prophecy of a coming joy. It should be no ambition of ours to traverse a path without a thorn or a stone.—Charles H. Spurgeon.

Princess

The World Film Corporation presents "The Seats of the Mighty" at the Princess today, by Sir Gilbert Parker, with Lionel Barrymore and other famous stars.

Robert Moray, a young Englishman, to whom have been entrusted certain letters of Madam du Barry, mistress of Louis XV, goes to join Major Washington's expedition against the French. Moray is captured by the French, and is taken to Quebec by orders of Doltaire, in supreme command over "New France," who had previously been dispatched by La Pompadour, rival of du Barry in the affections of the King, in an effort to secure the du Barry letters.

Moray and Doltaire fall in love with the beautiful Alixe Duvarney, who pledges her faith to Moray, even though he is falsely accused by Doltaire of being a spy. Doltaire, baffled, plans to discredit Moray in the eyes of Alixe, and contrives that he fight a duel with Alixe's brother, Juste. Juste is badly wounded, and Moray, on the orders of Doltaire, is thrown into prison.

Doltair, still repulsed by Alixe, who remains faithful to Moray, and unsuccessful in his efforts to steal the du Barry letters, causes Moray to be tried as a spy. Moray is sentenced to be shot.

The morning of the execution arrives, but Alixe pretends to accept the suit of Doltaire, and he orders a stay of execution. Moray escapes with the aid of Alixe.

Moray succeeds in joining the English force under General Wolfe, who is moving toward Quebec, and is able to point out to the General a sure means of access to the apparently impregnable city.

The city is stormed and captured, and Doltaire, trapped in company with the wicked Indendante, Bigot, meets his death in the destruction of the latter's palace. Wolfe is victorious, and Captain Moray and Alixe are happily reunited.

LETTER WRITTEN ON DAY OF DISASTER.

Murray, Ky., April 12.—Miss Elizabeth Parker of this place, sister of Ensign T. A. Parker, second officer on submarine F-4, which went to the bottom off Honolulu harbor, received a faint gleam of hope on receipt of a letter from her brother that the young man might possibly be alive, but these hopes vanished when, on opening the letter, its contents revealed the fact that the letter was written and mailed on the day of the disaster. In the letter Parker discussed his operations as a member of the crew of F-4 in and around Honolulu harbor besides many other things of more personal interest.

HEART DISEASE

Caused The Death of Mrs. H. Clay Stewart.

Mrs. Missouri Ellen Stewart, wife of Mr. H. C. Stewart, died Friday at her home about six miles west of the city, of heart disease. She was 68 years old and a native of Virginia. The deceased is survived by her husband and several children. She was a member of the Baptist church. The interment took place in the Stewart burying ground in Trigg county, Saturday.

Wealth and Responsibility.
Just before the late Albert A. Sprague died he had the pleasure of seeing a pension system for old employees—long a cherished project—put into effect. Three employees who had served the concern long and faithfully were made the first beneficiaries. January 1, 1914, a large sum, subsequently increased, was set aside as the nucleus of the pension fund. It was determined that the beneficiaries should not be required to contribute. The only requirement is that the beneficiaries should have a service record of at least twenty years and be sixty years of age. The plan not only affords encouragement to the sober and deserving employee, but also illustrates in a striking way that sense of responsibility for wealth and the welfare of those who help create it, which is the best characteristic of the best type of American business man. It is a noble monument to the public spirit of one who was, in so many other ways, one of Chicago's most public-spirited citizens.—Chicago Herald.

PROPOSALS.

Sealed proposals will be received by the Kentucky State Board of Control for Charitable Institutions, at the Western State Hospital, Hopkinsville, Ky., until noon, Wednesday, April 21st, 1915, for furnishing said Western State Hospital one Auto Passenger Truck, of two and one-half or three ton capacity, capable of carrying from twenty to twenty-six passengers.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. For specifications and other information apply to Dr. H. P. Sights, Superintendent, Hopkinsville, Ky. Kentucky State Board of Control for Charitable Institutions.

Trout Streams in Rockies.
Nearly all of the Rocky mountain forests contain splendid trout streams, and, as most of these are kept well stocked, they will doubtless furnish sport for many generations. Game is also to be found in most of the forests, and in some of them is abundant; but the big game is rapidly disappearing, and many of the species are doomed. Thus the Olympic forest is the last stand of the Roosevelt elk, and the mountain sheep is found only in a few forests. On the other hand, deer and bear are still abundant in many of the forests, and especially in the Blackfoot, Kootenai, Kanisku, Coeur d'Alene and Flathead of Montana. In the Southwest there is still good hunting on the Apache, the Sigreaves and the Tonto of Arizona and in the Mogollon and Gila country of New Mexico.

RUNAWAY KATHERINE

In Her Wanderings She Meets Cupid, Well Disguised but Efficient.

By DAN LA GRANGE.

It was on a spring morning that Miss Katherine Beloit suddenly went crazy.

She had reached the age of nineteen without anybody having suspected her of a weak brain. On the contrary, those who knew her best said she would make her mark in the world, girl though she was.

Her parents had planned to go away for a week, and Miss Katherine was to boss the manor house during their absence. A good-by and then the folks were gone. The girl dumped down into the hammock and did some thinking and musing preparatory to going crazy.

"They get ready and go right off as if I didn't count for shucks!" she pouted. "Then go and be hanged, but I shan't always be here to be snubbed. Everybody has a good time but me. Does any one call except on mother? Has ever a young man driving past in an auto stopped and asked what time it was? Of course not! I don't amount to pumpkins, I don't!"

It is generally believed that people go crazy with a whoopee, and make a bee line for the kitchen and the butcher knife, but there are exceptions to the rule. Miss Katherine raised up on her elbow and gave the hammock pillow a swat with her fist.

"I'll run away—that's what I will do!"

And she didn't put the matter off until next Christmas, but walked right upstairs and looked for the oldest things in her wardrobe. She hadn't planned where she was to go nor what she should do, but a sort of instinct told her that she should have old clothes on when she did it.

The cook was singing in the kitchen and the gardener loafing, and neither one of them saw the crazy girl as she passed out of the gate into the road and down the highway forty rods until she got the shelter of a bit of woods. There was an auto coming, but it was yet a quarter of a mile away when she was sheltered.

So far so good. She had gone crazy and had made a fair start toward running away and having adventures galore. Where should she run to? With no money in her purse and a very simple role. Suppose it was that of a hired girl? She'd hire for a week and then skip back home, and there would be incidents enough to keep her relating for a month.

Miss Katherine was about to approach the highway and sit down. This cut her off from the road, and she went farther into the woods. She thought there was another highway back of the woodland, but she did not come across it in half a mile's walk. She was wondering if she should not suddenly regain her senses and return to the house when a man stepped from behind a tree and gave her an awful fright.

He was a bent and withered old man, with hands more like claws, and he eyed her in a malevolent way as they stood for a moment.

"I'm looking for the road over here," she almost whispered.

"You are a liar!" he croaked.

"But there—there is a road?"

"You have come to spy on old John!" he shouted.

"I didn't know you were here."

"You are lying to me. There's a reward of a hundred dollars for me, dead or alive."

"But I don't want it," said the girl in a voice she tried to make wheedling. "All I want is to find the road and go home."

"You can't go!"

She sprang away from him and ran at her best pace, but he had her before she had gone 100 feet. She screamed once, but he raised his fist to strike her, and she was silent. When he took her by the arm to lead her along she realized that he had a fierce grip, and though she tried her hardest to break away he could easily handle her. A few rods from where she encountered him was a brush shanty with a small fire smoldering near by. "Sit down!" exclaimed the old man.

Miss Katherine drew in her breath to scream.

"If you do, I'll hit you!" warned the old man.

The girl had always heard that insane people must be humored, and finding herself in his power and in danger of violence if she provoked him, she forced a smile and a half-laugh and said:

"Oh, well, I don't want to go home yet anyway, so we won't care about the road."

"Isn't that a pretty good house for an old man to build?" he asked after a grumpy silence.

"Indeed, but it is real cute," was answered.

"And I built it in a day."

"Then you are smarter than most men half your age."

"Do you know my name?"

"No, I never heard it."

"It's Cupid!"

The words came out so pat, and the situation was so incongruous, that Miss Katherine burst into a laugh.

"I've brought about over a hundred matches between couples, and that's why they call me Cupid."

"Are you out in the woods to hunt up a match for someone?"

"No, I came out here to sleep and am here to the waltzers, but as soon as I saw you I knew who I should marry you to."

"Well, who is it?"

"It's Will Irwin. Nicest man in this state. He comes to my son David's, where I live, and he brings me candy. I told him I'd find him a wife, and I have."

It looked as if the old man was going to be easy to get away from, and Miss Katherine also lost her fear of him. She saw that flattery was the thing to use, and she said:

"Mr. Cupid, I think you have a good voice for singing."

"I know I have," he replied. "I was singing a song just before you came. It is called the 'Seven Black Crows.' It goes like this."

And in a voice that was cracked and bent and twisted and full of shingle nails he sang two lines of verse over and over again about seven crows, each with a nose. Then his drawl was stopped by a fit of coughing.

"That was surely a beautiful song, and as a reward if you will come down to the house with me, I will hunt you a better suit of clothes than that," said the girl.

"I knew you'd like the song, and I will go with you. Come." How easy. They headed for the highway, chattering as they went, but were not yet half-way there when the old man clutched her arm with a grip of iron and dragged her back.

"You can't fool Cupid! You are trying to run away from Mr. Irwin. Don't you scream! Don't you dare do it!"

As he pulled her back to the hut he seized a long strip of bark he had been using as a rope, and passed it around under her arms, and then forced her to sit down and made her fast to a small tree. The girl neither struggled nor protested. The old man's mood had changed and night again.

"I don't want to stay at the stake," he said, and looked at his watch. "Suppose I tell Mr. Irwin that I have a wife for him here, and he'll come here to see and you are gone! Oh, no, you won't get away! I shall be back in about an hour."

With that he started off at a brisk pace, and was soon lost to sight and hearing. Miss Katherine waited ten minutes and then set out to release herself. She couldn't accomplish it. The bark strip was as strong as a rope, and being made fast behind her the knot was too much for her. Would the old crazy man ever come back?

It was high noon before the cook at Beloit's discovered that Miss Katherine had changed her clothes and gone away somewhere, but it was four o'clock in the afternoon before any real alarm was felt. Then the cook didn't know what should be done, and the gardener replied that he didn't. It was finally decided that she had walked to the village and was taking her time about getting home.

At twilight both servants were standing in the middle of the highway in a nervous state when a young man came along in an auto.

"Are you in any sort of trouble?" he asked.

"Did you overtake a young lady in coming from the village?" was asked.

"No."

"Then she's been carried off by the Black Handers," wailed the cook.

What story there was to tell was told, and the young man said:

"I am Mr. Will Irwin. I passed along here this morning about ten o'clock, going the other way. Down there by the woods I saw a young lady turn off the road and go in among the trees."

"It must have been her," wailed the cook.

"And she'd never stay there as long as this if she wasn't hurt or dead," added the gardener.

He was ordered to get two lanterns and then assist in the search. The woods were entered and beaten back and forth. There was shouting and whistling, and just when they were ready to abandon the search they ran upon the captive. She looked up at them in an anxious way.

"I think you are Mr. Will Irwin, and I think you have come for me."

He looked into her face for a few seconds, and then, as he began to free her, he said:

"Sure, I have. This must be Cupid's work."

It turned out to be. As they drove from the church after the marriage they passed a crazy old man sitting on the fence and singing about Seven Black Crows.

Peruna Is A Tonic and Strength Builder So Says

Mrs. Frank Stroebe, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis. Her letter reads:

"I began using Peruna a few months ago when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck. Could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live."

"Three bottles of Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had a splendid color and never weighed more in my life."

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement."

Mr. Charles Brown, R. R. 4, Box 79, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect 'war-torn' builder."

PARTNERS.

Said a whisky flask to a cigarette, I'd like to make a good-sized bet,

That I can get more scalps than you, Although your victims ain't so few.

Said the cigarette to the whisky flask, Well, that's as easy as I could ask, For I give kids their downward start, Then you pitch in and do your part, They come to you with a burning thirst.

But I'm the one that sees 'em first; So most of them should count for me;

I'll take the bet, it's a cinch, d'y see. Then the whisky flask had this to say I never looked at the thing that way; But I must confess you spoke the truth,

'Tis you that tackles the foolish youth You fill his system with dopey smoke, I mould him into a first-class soak; We work together far too well To quarrel even for a spell.

So the whisky flask and the cigarette Shook hands together, called off the bet,

And away they sauntered side by side, Hunting for victims far and wide;

In every corner of the nation, Partners in crime and ruination. So there's our warning, on the level, Shun them as you would the Devil.

MADE TOO STRONG A BLUFF

Mythical Past That Kansas Man Described Has Been the Bane of His Married Life.

"I made one serious mistake when I courted my wife," said a man in Tom Thompson's hearing. "I told her she was too good for me, and that I had been a pretty bad boy, but if she would only have me, I'd straighten up and live a different life."

"Now, the fact is I wasn't a very bad feller and I just put that kind of a story over because most girls like to think they have great influence for good over bad boys. But after we got married my wife watched me like a hawk. She got confidential with all my old friends and tried to find out all about what I had been doing the years before she came to town, and when she couldn't run anything down on me she became imbued with the belief that I was a very sly knave besides being as wicked as I had led her to believe I was."

"She is suspicious of every move I make, and it's getting on my nerves to such an extent that the peace and quiet of our happy home is in danger. And it's all my fault. I tried to be smart and make her think I was a helovn feller and that I was reforming all for her sake. Now, I believe she would like me better if she could dig up some old scandal on me to justify the bluff I put up to her when I was keeping company with her. But next time I'll know better," he said with a long sigh.—Kansas City Star.

DANGEROUS BIRDS OF PREY

Some American Owls Capable of Carrying Off Young Lamb, So Powerful Are They.

One of the largest of our American varieties of the owl family was shot on a recent Saturday in Connecticut by a German workman. Its wings, spread out, measured four feet eight inches—only four inches short of five feet—from tip to tip. Its claws, hooked like an eagle's, and very sharp, were fully an inch and a half in length.

Such an owl is quite capable not only of seizing and hearing off a full-grown rabbit (which is its regular prey), but a young lamb—possibly a small baby.

Its flights, silent as the thistle-downs that float in the September air, is swift as an arrow, and the hapless hen or rabbit is first apprised of "what's up" by the plunging of those terrible talons into its quivering flesh and muscles. By the silence of their flight, these nocturnal birds of prey are able to destroy a great many rats.

Rheumatism Cure.

The old-fashioned person who carries a potato in his pocket to ward off attacks of rheumatism may be wiser in what some have termed his "superstition" than we wot. Up-to-date medical science in a recent book on "The Therapeutic Value of the Potato" calls attention to the value of this tuber in the treatment of inflammation of the joint fluid (synovitis), gout, lumbago and rheumatism. The potato is not described as an article of diet, either boiled or baked, nor as German, country or French fried. It could scarcely be professional to prescribe anything quite so much to a patient's liking. But this curative agent may be used raw by means of a bandage, and in some cases—no one can now escape the little syringe—is to be used hypodermically. After all, however, the potato in the pocket will appeal to many as a simpler, convenient, and perhaps quite as efficacious a remedy, placebo, or amulet, as any the pharmacist may provide.

To Remove Ink Stains.

When the finger is stained with ink and you have no sand soap in the house, just take a match, moisten it slightly and rub over the discolored parts. The stains will soon disappear.

Very often a black coat or dress looks shabby before it is really worn out, owing to the "shine" which appears in various places. To remove this use ammonia and soap—say, one ounce of rock ammonia and half an ounce of castile soap in a pint of water. When quite dissolved dip a small sponge into the mixture and gently rub over the shiny spots. Sometimes a simple paste of fuller's earth and water will remedy the defect. Put on while moist, let it dry, and brush off after about four hours or so.

He Misunderstood.

She was a girl of the period of the first water, he a wee bit illiterate. He always tried hard never to betray his uncultured condition, sometimes with terrible results, as witness:

They sat in the concert room together eating apples, and as the band struck up an exceptionally pleasant air who exclaimed:

"Oh, what a sweet symphony, John!" "H'm!" answered John, solemnly chewing his fruit. "Yours may be; mine's beastly sour!"

Good Stories All Old.

Lord Byron, in one of his prose writings, declared that there were only seven stories in the world, and that all other anecdotes and jokes were adaptations, variations or degenerations of the original seven. Wendell Phillips, in his "Lost Arts," declares that all the good stories of the present day accredited to the Irish are really the product of the original Greeks.

TIME TO ACT

Don't Wait for the Fatal Stages of Kidney Illness. Profit By Hopkinsville People's Experience.

Occasional attacks of backache, irregular urinations, headaches and dizzy spells are frequent symptoms of kidney disorders. It's an error to neglect these ills. The attacks may pass off for a time but generally return with greater intensity. Don't delay a minute. Begin taking Doan's Kidney Pills, and keep up their use until the desired results are obtained. Good work in Hopkinsville proves the effectiveness of this great kidney remedy.

Miss L. A. Hester, Fifteenth and Clay Sts., Hopkinsville, says: "The pain in my back, caused by disordered kidneys was so severe some days that I often felt like lying down. If I walked any distance or exerted myself in anyway, I was troubled most and if I caught cold, it made me miserable. In the morning, I felt stiff and sore and often found it hard to dress. Kidney weakness bothered me. I doctored but found little relief. Doan's Kidney Pills removed the pains in my back and the other kidney ailments left."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Miss Hester had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Our Indebtedness to Slaves.

To the emperors and popes of bygone ages, writes Mrs. Ida Husted Harper, the modern world is deeply indebted for treasures of art and architecture that without them never could have existed. It was only by the labor of unpaid and underfed slaves that the Coliseum, the magnificent arches, the enormous baths, the marvelous palaces could have been erected; and it was only through grinding the faces of the poor by taxes and enforced contributions that the splendid churches could have been built and their matchless decorations made possible. Popes, emperors and unfortunate victims have long since passed alike into dust, not all the pomp and circumstance of power being able to avert this common fate, and it matters not whether this dust has returned to the simple elements of earth or been preserved in gorgeous tombs.

Rheumatism Yields

Quickly to Sloan's.

You can't prevent an attack of Rheumatism from coming on, but you can stop it almost immediately. Sloan's Liniment gently applied to the sore joint or muscle penetrates in a few minutes to the inflamed spot that causes the pain. It soothes the hot, tender, swollen feeling, and in a very short time brings a relief that is almost unbelievable until you experience it. Get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment for 25c of any Druggist and have it in the house—against Colds, Sore and Swollen Joints, Lumbago, Sciatica and like ailments. Your money back if not satisfied, but it does give a most instant relief.

Tip to the Jury.

The great John Philpott Curran was once addressing a jury in an important case. During his speech he observed that the judge shook his head. Fearing the gesture should have an adverse influence on the jury, Curran warmed up for the moment and said: "I see, gentlemen, the motion of his lordship's head, but, believe me, if you remain here many days you will see that when his lordship shakes his head there's nothing in it."

Clean Paint and Varnish.

Here is a good way to clean painted and varnished surfaces: To half a bucketful of warm water add a tablespoonful of salts of tartar; wash the paint with a rag dipped in this, and it will remove every speck of dirt. Rinse in clear warm water and dry with a chamol.

MAKE MONEY FROM SEAWEED

Inhabitants of the Island of Guernsey Have "Farms" Regularly Allotted to Them.

The strangest "farms" are the seaweed farms of the Island of Guernsey. Held in common by all the farmers of the neighborhood, a "farmers' council" allots to each man making application a strip of the seashore, and all the seaweed that is cast up within these limits belongs to him.

Great howlers mark the boundaries of the farms, which are from 200 to 600 yards of shore, and if any man gathers seaweed from any other man's farm or moves the howlers to extend his boundaries the council takes his farm away from him and fines him besides. The seaweed harvest is at its height during the months of July and August, and all that a man need possess to gather it is a two-wheeled cart and one of the sturdy Guernsey ponies, a couple of long-handled pitchforks and a rake.

The seaweed or "varech," as the Guernsey people call it, is used as fertilizer on the inland farms, or is sold to manufacturing chemists, who extract iodine from it.

In the old days, but not now, the great Guernsey "harvest home," which was held usually in May, at the conclusion of the winter season, was the chief festival of that quaint island. The last load was piled upon the carts, and the men and women in holiday dress marched at the head of their carts with their ponies gayly bedecked, singing old sea songs and dancing to the sound of the women's tinmouths. From village to village they went until darkness came, and then a huge bonfire was lighted on the seashore and the "varech" season was officially declared at an end.

NICKNAME STUCK TO SENATOR

Frontiersman Responsible for Sobriquet by Which Missouri Statesman Was Always Known.

Senator Barton, one of the two first Missouri senators, was known as "Little Red." He got the name when he delivered a speech which made him famous throughout the country.

The senate chamber was crowded. Barton had taken side against the Jackson policies. His arraignment and condemnation of the administration for years ranked as one of the greatest speeches ever heard in the senate. The audience became intensely excited. At the close, while people were crowding out of the gallery, there came a mighty shout:

"Hurrah for the little red!"

This was repeated again and again in the corridors of the capitol by the Missouri frontiersman who had been a listener. When the man became calm enough to explain he said the original "little red" was a game rooster he owned which could whip any fighting cock matched against him. When he heard Senator Barton "putting his licks" in the Jackson crowd and "bringing them down every flutter" he couldn't help thinking of the victories of his "little red." The newspapers took up the story and Barton went by the sobriquet of "Little Red."

Even Crabs Have Instinct.

Everyone has heard of the homing instinct of birds and of insects, but it is rather a surprise to be told that animals as low in the scale of nature as crabs have a similar instinct. The experiment has been tried in England of capturing crabs, marking them for identification, and releasing them long distances from their homes. The most interesting example was that of a male and female captured together in a trap and carefully marked, and then taken long distances away into another county and released at different places far apart from each other. Later the two were caught together again in a trap in their original home, showing that they had not only returned to their home, but had found each other and had again mated. The homing instinct had enabled them to go from the county of Lincolnshire back to their original home in Yorkshire.

Indoor Gardens.

Rooms without growing plants are never really perfectly satisfactory in spite of the change of furniture from one place to another, its readjustment with fresh color from time to time. There must always be moments when the inanimate room hovers or stifles one, but never a time when a plant lifting up its branches for the blossoming time will not win your response, your desire to aid it, your joy in its triumph.

Use New Words.

The words we use every day make up our vocabulary, and it is a very good thing that our vocabulary should be as large as we can possibly make it. The best way to accomplish that is to use as many new words as possible as often as we can. Then we get accustomed to them and they are part of our vocabulary. But we must be sure that we understand their meaning, and that we use them in the right place. It is better to choose short words rather than long ones.

How To Buy A Piano

After you have made a thorough investigation of the different methods of selling pianos just figure what you can save if you buy direct from the factory. Remember, a retailer has large expenses in selling a piano, besides his profit. You can save all of this at our factory. We make as fine pianos as are manufactured anywhere, and we sell direct to the homes. We never sell through dealers or agents, but we will give their profits to you.

The Adler Piano received the highest award at the National Conservation Exposition at Knoxville in 1913. You can try an Adler Piano in your home free. You can put it to any test and make any comparison you desire. You do not obligate yourself to purchase. Ship it back at my expense if you are not more than satisfied to keep it. My plan of selling direct from the factory saves you $100 to $150. If it is not convenient to pay cash, you can use my strictly confidential "Charge Account Plan" whereby you can pay in small amounts to suit you, and without interest.

BEST TIME FOR FRESHENING

Several Good Reasons for Having Cows Drop Calves During Months
of September and October.

It is generally held by breeders that it is best to have cows freshen in the months of September and October.
There are several reasons for having cows calve at this time. First, the cow will produce more milk when she freshens in the fall instead of in the spring; second, the prices for dairy products are higher during the winter months than in summer; third, calves born in the fall may be turned out to

We Should Keep Cows Adapted to Our Needs.

pasture to better advantage than those born in the spring; they are older and more capable of protecting themselves from flies. When cows freshen at this season of the year, and it is desired to have them freshen the following year at the same time, it is necessary to carry them for three months before breeding. This is the usual practice among the best dairymen.

We would say that it would be better to begin breeding the animals the first of January if it is desired to have them freshen in the fall, for it is quite possible that it will require more than one breeding.—Hoard's Dairyman.

CLEAN WATER IS NECESSARY

Artificial Pond Erected by Illinois
Farmer Proves Quite Adequate
for All Needs of Farm.

Good clean water is an essential necessary for the comfort and well-being of the dairy herd. Spring or well water, if good, is possibly the best, but when there is not a sufficient supply a good deep pond does not come amiss.

We have an artificial pond which supplies our needs in this direction, which is ordinarily from twelve to fourteen feet deep, cool and clean.
This pond was made by building a dam across a hollow in the pasture 45 feet wide at the bottom and wide enough at the top so a team could be driven across, says an Illinois writer in Farmers' Review. A wall on the inside of the dam was constructed of two-inch white oak boards to keep the wash from breaking the dam. The outlet is not over the dam, but on the side.

To accomplish this task three teams and four or five men were kept busy for three weeks. After the dam had settled it was built up to the necessary height twice at different intervals.

Here we row with a skiff at leisure, and have a good old-fashioned swim when we so desire. In the winter we have a place to skate, and a most excellent place to get an abundance of ice for the icehouse. Not only this,
but the neighborhood at threshing time has the privilege of securing all the water they wish to use. When the wells go dry there is plenty there to fill the demand. It took a lot of hard labor and backache, but it has given us 12 years or more of service.

JUDGMENT IN BUYING COWS

If Animal Has Characteristic Color Markings for Her Breed She Is Always Easily Salable.

When buying cows, don't buy anything that won't sell well again in case you should want to do so. The best demand is for grade cows of the leading breeds, and if a cow of the characteristic color markings for her breed, she is easily salable. Of course, to sell a cow on the strength of her color alone is hardly fair to the buyer.
Get them with color combined with production. The chances are, however, that once you have a nice looking cow that is a persistent milkier you will not be tempted to part with her,
no matter how short of money you may be.

Water Supply for Cows.

In winter the water supply for dairy cows should have close attention. If watered from an outdoor tank the water should be kept clean and free from ice. A good plan is to have a small stream or brook run into the watering trough. This will keep the water from freezing and the cows will be able to get the water they need from a place that may be under the water impure or unwholesome. By all means water cows regularly.

Dumb Chills and Fever.

wrong time," writes Miss Edna Rutherford, of Douglasville, "and from that time was taken with dumb

A street car conductor in Kansas

NOTES FOR SWINE BREEDERS

Success With Pigs Cannot Be Attributed to Luck—Model Farm
Should Have Natural Shade.

Progression is the order of the day,
and in no direction is there more progression made than in the breeding and feeding of swine.

The time is past when we can consider a man's success in swine growing based upon luck.

Good drainage is essential on the hog farm, and no amount of tile or artificial draining will take the place of good natural drainage.

While hills and valleys make an ideal place for a hog farm, the herd should be kept as near to the source of the water as possible because of the danger of the stock becoming afflicted with cholera and other diseases caused by the stream being contaminated by swine further up stream.

A model breeding farm should be provided with a timber lot or large grove. There is no shade like natural shade, and trees soften the cold winds during the winter. Their value cannot be overestimated when properly utilized by the swine grower.

The breeder who would be successful in this age of close competition must have the closest and keenest discrimination of what is necessary to constitute an animal of individual merit, or more properly he must have firmly fixed in his mind the exact contour of a perfect pig. Then he must have an idea of the kind of breeding stock required to produce such a pig.

There are numerous breeds of swine,
varying not only in size, color, shape,
feeding qualities and general characteristics, but also in the quality of their product.

It is not the great big fat pig that brings home the money, but the pig that will weigh from 200 to 300 pounds at from six to ten months of age that captures the top prices.

The breeding animals of the herd should receive the very best care and attention at all times, but with all of our knowledge of breeding and feeding, the science of swine growing is yet in its infancy.

KEEPING SWINE IN WINTER

Profit Can Be Made in Feeding Home
Grown Feeds, Such as Clover, Alfalfa and Ensilage.

It is a common question to be asked if it will pay to winter swine. I can see but one way to winter swine at a reasonable cost, and it is to winter
them on as cheap feed as is possible,
and make home-grown feeds, clover, alfalfa and ensilage, form a prominent part of the ration.

If we can winter an animal in this way and feed out only a small amount of grain I think we can make it profitable to keep a number of pigs through the winter and make fairly good gains, but it is a common occurrence

Winter Comfort for Little Ones.

to go on a farm in the spring and see 100 hogs which will weigh the same in May as they did in December, and all of the corn cribs empty.

Something is wrong when we see a St. kind of hogs, but no one will dismiss the fact that the average feeder gives his pigs more feed than can be gained with a profit or else has a bunch of fat pigs in the spring.

There is one advantage in wintering pigs. We have them in time to feed out and reap the benefits of a good summer market, and in that manner receive considerable more money than we would if we were compelled to market them while the market was overstocked in November or December.—
J. M. D.

Packing House Demands.

The demand at the packing houses is for leaner pork and smaller weight hams. The feeders must cater to these demands by breeding and raising leaner hogs.

Feed your pigs on a ration of corn, clover and alfalfa. This is the best ration for growing pigs. It is cheap and gives them the best of tenderloins and hams. It also gives them a good variety to the ration.

WHOLESALE FOWL THEFTS

Nearly 250 Fat Hens Swiped
Friday and Saturday Nights.

Chicken thieves raided several hen roosts in different parts of the county Friday and Saturday nights. Jno. R. Green, west of town, lost 60 hens, R. G. Rickman, of Casky, 18; Elbridge Cayce, 66; James Cayce, 40; and Oscar White 12.

On Saturday night Sam Kirby and John Irvin, colored, who had sold some chickens to a local meat shop, were arrested on suspicion by the police and are still being held. Kirby claims that he raised the fowls he sold. In some instances, the thieves carried the fowls away in vehicles.

Allies' Battle Fronts.

Paris, April 12.—Troops of the allies occupy battle fronts 1,656 miles long, according to a compilation by the Matin. In the west, according to these figures, the French occupy 540 miles of trenches, the British thirty-one miles and the Belgians seventeen miles. In the east, the Russians face a front of 951 miles, while the Serbians and Montenegrins are fighting along a line of 217 miles.

Warrants and Warrants.

Edgar Harned, a juror in the Clark case, was arrested and gave bond Saturday on a warrant sworn out by W. H. Boyd and W. F. Barron, charging false swearing. The young men made affidavit that Mr. Harned had expressed an opinion before qualifying as a juror and he had them arrested on a similar warrant a few days before.

Used Too Much.

Dr. Emmett James, of Morgantown, who sprinkled a handkerchief with chloroform to induce sleep after a hard trip, was found dead with the handkerchief over his face.

HARRY BRYAN DEAD IN DALLAS

Former Hopkinsville Boy Died
Last Week In Texas.

Harry M. Bryan, a native of this city, died in Dallas, Texas, April 5, of a long illness, aged 45 years. He was a member of the mercantile firm of Bryan & Tandy, twenty years ago. Later he engaged in the insurance business and in 1903 went to Texas, where he rose to prominence. At the time his health failed he was secretary of the Western Indemnity Co. He was married a few years to a young widow with one small child. His wife and an infant son and the step-son survive him. Also one sister, Mrs. Gano Henry, of Greensboro, Miss.

His funeral services were held by Rev. H. D. Smith, formerly his pastor here. Mr. Bryan was a son of the late Thos. S. Bryan and was a cousin of Charles and Thos. S. Knight, of this city.

"Uncle Dick" Got Mad.

"Uncle Dick" Holland lost patience Saturday at the methods of a man who was selling a paper on the streets and giving away a lot of merchandise with it. Mr. Holland expressed himself so vigorously that the stranger, whose name was Kelly, showed fight and "Uncle Dick" handed him a couple of Jesswillards that landed him in the gutter. He picked himself up just in time to run into the arms of a policeman. Yesterday Special Judge White assessed Kelly $10 and costs. A jury tried "Uncle Dick" and let him off with a pat on the back.

Another Ocean Outrage.

The New York Belgian relief ship, Harpalce, was torpedoed and sunk off Noordhinder. Twenty-eight of the crew of fifty-three men were rescued. Some of the survivors are badly wounded.

DEFEATED BY RUSSELLVILLE

Hopkinsville High School Baseball Team Loses to Bethel 4 to 0.

Although the team fought hard and played guilt-edged baseball from start to finish, the Hopkinsville High School baseball team met defeat Sunday at the hands of Bethel College of Russellville. The final score stood 4 to 0. Bethel College has an exceptionally good team this year and always plays teams in a much higher class than high schools and the Hopkinsville boys deserve credit for holding them to so tight a score.

Pitcher House, who twirled for Russellville, is well-known in this locality as a slab artist and is considered by many to be the best amateur pitcher in Western Kentucky. Evans, who caught for Bethel, will be remembered as having caught for Cairo and Owensboro in the Kitty League.

Hopkinsville lost the game mainly through their inability to connect with Houses offerings. During the game eighteen H. S. batsmen were retired on strikes. In the seventh inning House turned over the box to Herndon, whom the high school immediately landed on for two hits. Herndon was taken out and Greenfield, Bethel's star heater, came to the rescue and stopped the rally.

The score: r h e
Bethel 002 000 20x 4 6 0
H. H. S. 000 000 000 0 3 4

Batteries House, Greenfield, Herndon and Evans; Underwood and Moss.

Next Thursday High School plays Clarksville high school club here and will spend the week in practice to get in shape to put up a hard fight for the game.

GOVERNMENT OFFERS

ADDITIONAL PUBLIC LAND.

The United States Reclamation Service announces the opening and availability the latter part of April of a large number of desirable homesteads in the well known Shoshone irrigation project near Yellowstone National Park, Wyoming. This opening will mark the fifth unit to be offered the public in this district and will afford an excellent opportunity for the serious homemaker to secure a desirable 40 or 80 acre tract under the homestead law in a district of proven agricultural worth.

According to an announcement issued by Albert V. Leonard, settlement agent of the U. S. Reclamation Service in the Federal Bldg., the Government during the past six months has been swamped with appeals for suitable agricultural homesteads and the opening of the Shoshone lands will in a measure appease the demand for irrigable tracts in this section.

"There is no question but that the recent peculiar business and economic conditions have been largely responsible for the increasing demand for and widespread interest in the 'back to the land movement,'" states Mr. Leonard. "The Government is desirous of encouraging this laudable movement in every proper way and seeks to make readily available information concerning the opportunities which exist for the homemaker. It is my desire that the Shoshone opening will attract an industrious class of people who will maintain the high standard of progressive farming which is rapidly transforming the Shoshone project into an agricultural community of accomplishment. With an excellent climate, fertile soil, ample water supply, and a splendid element with school, church and other community interest, this project should appeal strongly to prospective settlers and I shall be very glad to supply such people with all necessary data."

Brother of Mrs. Quick.

Mr. John Q. Thomas, a prominent farmer of Trigg county, died suddenly last Wednesday night of acute indigestion. Mr. Thomas was ill only a short time and the attack came on him very unexpectedly. He was a brother of Mrs. John Q. Quick of this city. His home was near Cadiz.

More than five billions for luxuries was the record of expenditures in the United States last year.

SUPERINTENDENT IS WHIPPED

Brother of Little Girl Ordered Whipped Administrators Beating to Pedagogue.

Decatur, Ala., April 11.—Prof. J. M. Collier, superintendent of the Decatur public schools was given a second flogging this afternoon by John W. Jones, son of T. M. Jones, one of the best known cotton men in the south. It is said Professor Collier attempted to have a little sister of Mr. Jones whipped by one of the teachers because she said she knew nothing to say in a debate. Hearing this, the child's brother jumped into his automobile, which was standing in front of his office, and was soon at the school house administering a sound flogging to the professor. It took several men to pull Mr. Jones off the professor. Professor Collier's wife fainted as her husband was being whipped.

ADJOURNED MEETING

Will Be Held By H. B. M. A.
Friday Night With Smoking and Speeches.

The meeting of the H. B. M. A. Friday night was not well attended and but little business was attempted, further than to take in 15 more new members, making 31 within the last two weeks. A special effort will be made to get out a full attendance at an adjourned meeting next Friday night. C. R. Clark, Ed C. Weathers and L. H. Davis were named as a committee to arrange a program of speeches. A smoker will be given and an effort will be made to get up a livelier interest for the spring work.

U. S. Not U. S. A.

Do you know what is the proper abbreviation of the United States? It is U. S. A. It is not U. S. A. There is widespread and apparently utter ignorance of this fact. The initials U. S. A. is the official accepted abbreviation for United States army, and does not, under any possible conditions, ever mean United States of America. At this time, when so many manufacturers in this country are branding their goods as made in the United States, this is important. The brand U. S. A. upon anything means that it was manufactured in the United States army. "Made in U. S." is the brand which should be put upon all goods manufactured in this country.—Knickerbocker Press.

Brother Will Go.

Murray, Ky., April 9.—Joe T. Parker, brother of Ensign T. Albert Parker, who lost his life on submarine F-4 a few days ago off Honolulu harbor, after the sinking of the vessel, has left here for San Francisco, Cal., where he will join the diving crew which will go to Honolulu in a last effort to bring the submarine to the surface. Mr. Parker has given up all hope for the life of his brother, and his desire now is that the body may be recovered and brought here for interment.

Legal English.

The circumlocution of legal documents is the penalty of having a bilingual language and descends to us from these countries when the English and the Normans were slowly amalgamating into one people. So the two races, in the market place or in social converse, to make their meaning clearer, joined a French word to an English or vice versa. That is why in the prayer book words so often run in couples: "Humble and lowly," "acknowledge and confess," "assemble and meet together." The English was for the English, the Norman-French for the French. Chaucer is a great user of such bilingual phrases: "Hunting and venerye," "wright and carpenter," "care and heed." And that is whence lawyers get such talk as "aid and abet," "will and testament" and "use and wont."

New South Wales is said to contain more kinds of flowering plants than all Europe.

Harry Remembers One.

Now is the time for the editors of the state to look up the records of candidates, especially for the general assembly, on matters in which the press people are directly interested. For instance let's have some information on the fellows who always vote to make the burdens of the newspapers harder to bear. Isn't Harry McCarty one of the boys who knows a few things along this line?—Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

In answer to the above inquiry we will state that among the candidates now seeking the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky is a gentleman who at the legislative session of 1908 was unusually active in accomplishing the defeat of a measure endorsed by the Kentucky Press Association and in which every newspaper in the State was interested. He is one of the fellows who thought it worth while to make the "burdens of the newspapers harder to bear," and is well remembered by many of the active members of our association. Let's hear from some of the other boys.—Jessamine Journal.

His Name Is Marks.

A. A. Marks was arrested in Los Angeles on a Federal indictment charging that he falsely represented himself in Louisville as a Government book publishing agent.
